

Isaiah's message is one of comfort, of hope and of restoration, but also a message of responsibility. The prophet was called to speak to people who had drifted from God, yet his words extended beyond His people of Israel. The book reveals a God whose love and plan for redemption reaches all nations. Isaiah 49:6 says, "It is too small a thing for you to be my servant to restore the tribes of Jacob... I will also make you a light for the Gentiles, that my salvation may reach to the ends of the earth."

We, too, are called to carry this light beyond the walls of our Brisbane City Salvos family. The message of salvation is not only for those we know or even are comfortable with, but for all who need to encounter the transforming power of Christ. As we reflect on Isaiah's prophetic words, let's ask ourselves: are we keeping the good news for ourselves, or are we actively sharing it with those around us—in our neighbourhoods, our workplaces and schools, our communities? Let's be bold, like Isaiah, in not only demonstrating but in proclaiming God's love and grace to all those we meet.

Our National Vision

Wherever there is hardship or injustice

Salvos will live, love and fight

Alongside others

To transform Australia one life at time

With the love of Jesus

Well here we are again at the beginning of another new month. Last month went by so quickly and I can barely remember what I have been up to. Here goes-

I suppose firstly what an honour and privilege it has been for the Corps and the Salvation Army to be welcomed back into the Brisbane City Watch House.

Ron, Sheila and myself are the first ones to be back and we are hoping that others will join us so that we can eventually have a daily presence there. Currently we are only there on Monday mornings and Friday afternoons.

As you may have heard at the last meeting the Watch House is in need of men's clothing for when Detainees are released back into the public. Thank you to those who have already donated and to those who will in the future. We are also looking at other ways we can support these people and will let you know.

This past week we had a lovely group of volunteers from the Langham Hotel come in to assist with Open House preparing and serving meals to our community. It was lovely to see their enthusiasm to help and also interact with our Community members. It is always a pleasure to have Corporate volunteers eager to get involved. What a great opportunity to introduce them to the Salvation Army.

If you have any further questions, please contact Nicole.

GSA

Our team of volunteers at GSA has dwindled a bit over the past few months due to Health issues. I would ask that you keep Greg Dharnam and Jonno Godfre in your prayers as they recover from various surgeries.

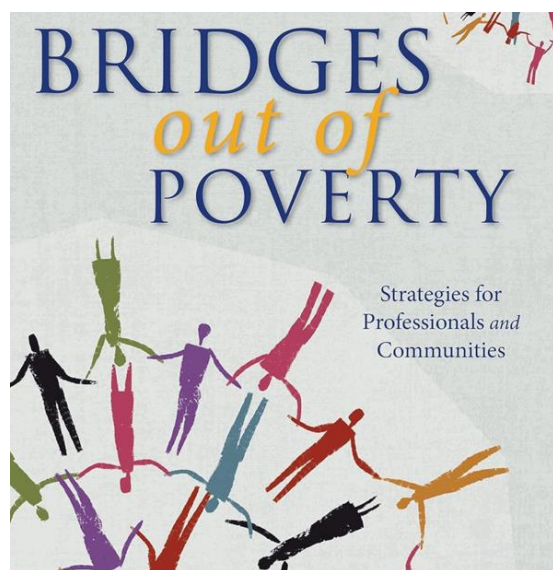

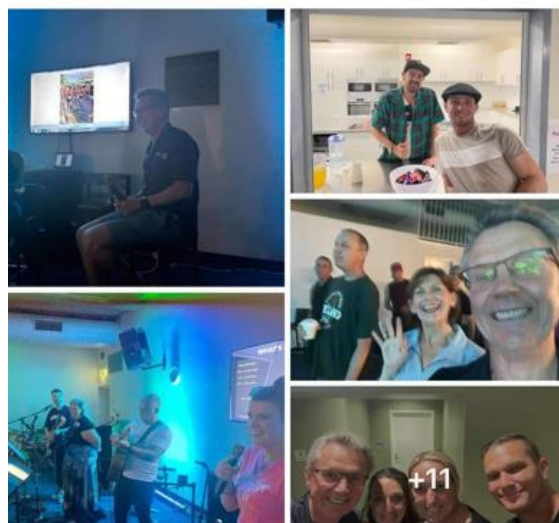

I thank all of those who prayed for GSA as a whole and individual members last Sunday. They were touched by the thought. Bill was our speaker last week and it always makes me laugh when our members find out that he is a former Police Officer. I don't think they expect that, and it is funny to see their reactions. Also, a big shout out to Ash & the Trash (Major Ashley) for organising our music last week.

I also attended a course this week at Carindale Corps called "Bridges Out Of Poverty". It was quite insightful and a lovely chance to network with other people from both inside and outside of the Salvation Army.

That is all for now. I know there is a lot more but the more I type the more Major Ashley expects for the next newsletter. Feel free to catch up for a chat at any time. Till next month, Stay Safe and God Bless x

'Love, Encourage and Don't Judge'

DID YOU KNOW?

The red shield is an internationally recognised symbol of The Salvation Army service to those in need. At the turn of the century, a silver Salvation Army shield was often worn as a badge by many Salvation Army personnel, particularly those serving with the Defence Forces. Following the Boer War, Australian Salvationist Major George Carpenter was concerned the silver shield worn by Salvationists in times of war would reflect light, especially at night and reveal the location of troops to the enemy. As a result, the silver was replaced with red enamel and became known as the Red Shield.

In the late 19th century, the Salvation Army campaigned for safer match production amid concerns over the harmful effects of white phosphorus matches. Their advocacy highlighted the dangers faced by workers and consumers, pushing for regulations to ban toxic materials in match manufacturing. In 1888, their efforts were instrumental in promoting the use of safer alternatives, ultimately leading to significant reforms that improved safety standards in the industry and raised awareness about worker health and public safety.

BOOK FOR SALE: "Jesus-centred Spirit-led Hope revealed. Our Rallying Cry"

Authors: Commissioner Miriam Gluyas with AuxLieutenant Rosy Keane

This book is very encouraging, and the stories underscore the truth that, 'doing good unto others is not hard to do'. The underlying principles that come from the stories are simple, well-known and effective. They are: seeing people, listening without judgment, loving people and doing something. It's a good read – and an encouraging one for us as a part of The Salvation Army! If you'd like to purchase a copy (or several for your corps), email askqld@salvationarmy.org.au. The cost is $20 plus postage (or pick up from DHQ).
